Origins and Historical Context of the Tuzuk-i-Jahangiri

Historical Background

Jahangir ascended the Mughal throne in 1605 after the death of his father, Akbar the Great. His reign (1605-1627) was marked by relative stability, cultural patronage, and a nuanced approach to governance. However, it was also characterized by personal introspection, a fascination with art, and engagement with contemporary philosophical debates.

The Tuzuk-i-Jahangiri was compiled during Jahangir's lifetime, primarily as a personal diary or memoir that recorded his daily life, important events, administrative decisions, and reflections. Unlike many chronicles of the period, which were often written by court historians, Jahangir's own words provide a unique, subjective perspective.

Authorship and Compilation

The memoir was written in Persian, the court language of the Mughal empire, and was likely compiled by Jahangir himself or with his close involvement. It was later compiled into a more formal collection, edited, and preserved by subsequent generations.

Jahangir's own handwriting, notes, and drafts indicate that he maintained a consistent record of his thoughts and activities, making the Tuzuk not just a narrative but a personal document. The memoir was intended for his own reference and reflection, which explains its candid, often poetic, and philosophically rich tone.

Manuscript and Editions

The original manuscripts are preserved in various collections, with notable copies in the British Library and the National Archives of India.
